

Learning Objectives

MedBridge

Management of the Cervicogenic Headache

Cheryl Sparks, PT, PhD, OCS, FAAOMPT

Objectives:

- Understand skeletal anatomy and biomechanical principles of the upper cervical spine.
- Discuss differences in clinical features in various types of headache.
- Identify the appropriate tests and measures for gathering objective data in individuals with cervicogenic headache.
- Understand how physical therapy intervention differs based on patient presentation.
- Identify which factors are predictive of success with select physical therapy interventions.