
Learning Objectives

MedBridge
Communication Assistive Technology
Donna Case, PhD, OTL

Course Objectives:

- The participant will identify several types of augmentative and alternative communication
- The participant will identify computer adaptations available through current computers and tablets
- The participant will identify computer adaptations available as add on to commercially available computers and tablets