Toileting: Identifying and Treating the Unspoken ADL
Lindsey Vestal, OTR/L

Upon completion of this course, learners will be able to

- Conclude that evaluation and treatment of incontinence are well within the scope of general occupational therapy practitioners across various settings
- Recognize dynamic components from the occupational therapy domain and process to reaffirm that pelvic floor interventions are within every OT's capability without extensive, specialized training
- Reproduce accessible, nonjudgmental language for optimal completion of an intake form relating to toileting
- Build effective interventions by extrapolating client-specific details captured during the intake interview
